WASHINGTON.

Yesterday's Proceedings in Congress.

Senate Debate on the House Ku-Klux Bill.

The Bill Likely to Pass Without Material Amendment.

Debate on the Deficiency Bill in the House.

Incidental Remarks on Revenue and Taxation.

Senate Proposition for a General Revision of the Revenue Laws.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 11.—In the Senate today the principal question of any interest were those of Ames and Trumbull on the Ku-Klux bill. Mr. Ames devoted himself to Frank Blair, and with some good political application. Mr. Trumbull's speech was one of his powerful efforts, and was directed against the House bill. It possessed the entire attention of the fellow-Senators. The prospects are still good that the bill will pass, substantially as reported to the Senate, by Thursday night.

THE DEFICIENCY BILL.

The debate in the House over those portions of the Deficiency bill which affect the expenditures in the District of Columbia was protracted and heated. The new territorial government was kept up by little more than Congress. Messrs. Schenck, Dawes, Farnsworth, Hibbard and Finkelnburg, in turn, attacked the appropriations for the District with so much effect that all were cut down. Report for the salaries of new officers, and these would have gone with the rest but, not the late clerking in the Department of Justice, which the United States to pay.

THE ATTORNEY BILL.

It now appears that the members of the House committee are having the matter in charge have been at work several hours and up the bill before the House at Congress convened.

Mr. BINGHAM then gave notice; "I shall object."

Mr. ROBERTSON replied that he intended to see whether there was a majority of the Senate disposed to object.

HOUR OF ADJOURNMENT.

The hour of adjourning yesterday was fixed at 11 o'clock.

THE ALABAMA SENATORSHIP.

The resolution to admit Rispaut and Goldthwaite to seats in the Senate from Alabama, Mr. EDWARDS, late on the 18th—Sen, 19; nays, 15, as follows:

THE KU-KLUX BILL.

Mr. CORNELING, obtaining leave to make a personal explanation, said that he had voted for the amendment in the New York Tribune, on Saturday, relative to the right of the President to suspend the writ of habeas corpus, and to call out the militia and the employment of the land and naval forces, whenever, and proceedings related did not exist in any State or Territory of the United States. He was also concerned.

Mr. BINGHAM said that the amendments reported from the Judiciary Committee were not accepted in the House in the form in which they were reported. It is an to stand the tests of the courts. He was in favor of the bill, but he was in favor of the suspension of the writ of habeas corpus, and the proceedings in the United States courts, and the proceedings in the United States courts, and the proceedings in the United States courts

TRIBUNE COMPANY, Chicago, Ill.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 12, 1871.

Subscribers to THE TRIBUNE in the district east of State, and between Twelfth and Twenty-second streets, are hereby notified NOT TO PAY their subscriptions to J. Lar[illegible], the late carrier, who has been discharged. Subscriptions due must be paid at the office or to Mr. Andrew Anderson, who is now the authorized carrier and collector.

Subscribers failing to receive their papers, either DAILY or SUNDAY, early and regularly, will confer a favor by giving immediate notice at the office.

HOW TO REDUCE FREIGHTS AND FARES.

Mr. Rufus Hatch's Circular No. 5, which we published yesterday, is a significant indication that the railway question is one that will never rest until some revolution or reform has been inaugurated. When the Wall street brokers take to moralizing and rebuking sin in the interests of the people, it is a proof that the interests of the money-bags are not all one way. When the capitalists divide it will soon be found that ample forces may be marshalled for reform, if a feasible plan of campaign can be devised, and able leaders be found to head the movement. [illegible]

[illegible]

Capital will continue to triumph in this battle until it can be divided against itself. [illegible]

There are two ways. The State of New York has the legal right to resume possession of the franchises of the Central Company, or any other, whenever it fails to fulfil its contract with the State by carrying freight and passengers at reasonable rates. What are the reasonable rates? [illegible]

Another and a better way, perhaps, is for the capitalists of New York and Chicago to build a new double-track steel railway to connect the two cities. This can be done for $[illegible],000,000. A road operated on so small a capital could defy competition with other lines operated on a capital of $75,000,000, two-thirds of which is fictitious. This would be a perfectly feasible enterprise, and one certain to bring a large profit to those who may undertake it.

LEGISLATIVE PROGRESS OF ONE DAY.

The House of Representatives of the Illinois Legislature can pass and consider bills as fast as any of their constituents can desire when they choose to do so. This was strikingly illustrated on Monday, when more bills were passed or ordered to a second or third reading than during the previous hundred days of the session. [illegible]

[illegible] exhibition of industry? Simply this. The Senate bill, appropriating $600,000 toward the building of the State House, stands behind so many other bills on the calendar that they must be cleared off before it can be reached, except by a suspension of the rules, which requires a two-thirds vote, and the State House ring has but a slim majority. [illegible]

[illegible]

PRESERVATION OF BIRDS.

The fact was recorded in this paper, a few days since, of a condemnation by the Health Officer of a large quantity of prairie chickens and quail, which, as unfit food for human beings, [illegible] [illegible] because they could not find a market till they were unfit to be eaten. [illegible]

[illegible]

There is a bill pending before the Legislature which we trust that body will not pass. We have a Board of Education in Chicago which, during the last four years, has caused to be expended $1,250,000 borrowed money, in real estate, heating apparatus, school buildings, and in various other ways. [illegible]

It is wonderful what great oaks from little acorns grow in St. Louis. [illegible]

[illegible] and St. Louis as dull as ever. [illegible]

The Rev. Henry Highland Garnet (colored) opposes the annexation of San Domingo, and denounces Mr. Frederick Douglass for favoring it. [illegible]

Now that the House of Representatives at Springfield have appointed a committee to examine the work already done on the new State House, and have commenced to take the testimony of architects and builders, [illegible]

At the expiration of each Congress there is a rush made on the President by "played out" members, for appointments to all sorts of offices, [illegible]

The St. Louis Republican, a representative of the most pronounced type of Democratic journals, [illegible]

Upon this basis the Republican proceeds, in a very sober and temperate article, to call for the "merciless extermination" of all the Ku-Klux in the South. [illegible]

Now, the crime referred to as having occurred near Macon does, as our St. Louis contemporary states, border on the incredible, [illegible] on the anniversary of All-Fools' Day.

Regular Meeting of the Society Last Evening.

A Large Number of Valuable Donations Reported.

Interesting Paper by Colonel Foster on "Artesian Wells."

A regular meeting of the Academy of Sciences was held last evening in the library of that institution, Colonel Foster occupied the Chair. The attendance was not large.

DONATIONS.

In the absence of the President, Dr. Frank W. Reily in Europe, and present, the Secretary read a list of several books and specimens for the museum, among the former an ancient work found on the shores of the Tibiran Sea. The specimen of coal was of specimens of the Secretary during his recent visit to the South was also imported. These specimens were mostly from the Gulf Coast, Pensacola, Mobile, the Tortugas, and are extremely rich and interesting.

A letter was also read from E. S. Cox, State Geologist of Indiana, accepting his appointment of the position of corresponding member of the society.

COMMITTEE REPORTS.

The special committee, to which was referred that portion of the President's Inaugural Address having reference to the organization of a Public Museum, reported in favor of the adoption of the amendment of such a constitution, to have charge of the Museum, and recommended the appointment of a Curator of the Museum, the existing President, Vice President, and Secretary, with three members.

THE "ARTESIAN BOILERS."

The committee to whom was referred Dr. Ridgway's report on the "Artesian Well Mound" in the annual report of the Smithsonian Institute, reported in favor of the publication of the report, as it would contribute to promote his research. The report was accordingly adopted.

ADMINISTRATION OF LOCKSMITH.

Mr. Brown read a paper on the administration of Hazelnut oil with cotton seed oil or fusel in our lactrate. The results were that a very little of the latter, and the chemical tests gave a very little of the latter were very unsatisfactory, and the Microscopic tests were more satisfactory, showing the presence of the latter, and the chemical tests gave a very little of the latter, which were not to be found in the Hazelnut oil.

ARTESIAN WELLS.

Professor Delafontaine, professor of chemistry, then read a paper on the "Artesian Well" in the city of Chicago, at Hanover, the new Milk-Street Brewery, and the Chicago Stock Yards, Milk and Aldrich Place. The result was simply the fact that in this previously arrived at in the Ice Well, in the Stock Yards, and in the Milk Place, the water was found to be of a very different character from that of the Artesian Well, and the Milk Place, and in the Ice Well and other artificial wells.

REMARKS OF COLONEL FOSTER.

Dr. Reily, accepting the chair, Colonel Foster remarked that he had not been long in Chicago, and had not made been long in Chicago, the Academy. It had a practical character, and was a good one, and showing that it was a good one. There was a very considerable body of our citizens who believed that water could be obtained from Artesian sources, which, for potable purposes, would be superior to the water of the Lake, or even of the lake water. The Board of Public Works had expended, in the experiment, a considerable sum of dollars, and, though a somewhat expensive one, it was not a bad investment for a city of 200,000 inhabitants, to be willing to be at a small cost, and, though a somewhat expensive one, it was not a bad investment, for the benefit of the city, and the tax-payers had a right to demand that the money expended in the public money was to be judiciously expended, that the tax-payers should
